

Gravina Access Project

Public Open House

February 11, 2002

3:00 pm – 8:00 pm

Ted Ferry Civic Center

The Alaska Department of Transportation and Public Facilities (DOT&PF) is hosting a public open house for community members to come learn about the recent studies of the project alternatives and DOT&PF's announcement regarding its decision to recommend the alternative that crosses Pennock Island.

Members of the project team will be available to answer your questions and provide you with the information that went into DOT&PF's recommendation.

The public is encouraged to come learn more about all of the alternatives and the alternative evaluation process. The open house is intended for the public to provide feedback and to give input on the recommended alternative.

Technical reports will also be available for your review. These reports will be used to provide background to launch preparation of the environmental impact statement. These reports are also available at the Ketchikan Public Library, the Gravina Access Project office, and the website, listed below.
